Princess of Wales Disgraced

At a royal ball last night, the current Princess of Wales, Catherine Elizabeth Middleton, had what appeared to be a fit in middle of the ceremonies. During one of the ambassadors' speeches, she stood up to leave, and walked out of the ballroom while talking on her phone. Upon her return, she was loudly snapping a piece of gum between her teeth. Stunned onlookers snapped pictures of Princess Kate as she sat back down in her seat, seemingly oblivious to the uproar she'd caused. The night's surprises were not yet over, though. When it was the Princess's turn to address the audience, she began her speech with, 'Hey everyone,' a most jocular and crass form of greeting. The audience was in a state of shock. What has gotten into our Princess? Fans and admirers are hoping she will soon revert to her previous refined and regal mode of behavior. Time will tell.
